

Jedermann Tour is sold out - all starting places for 28 August are allocated

The demand for the Jedermann Tour 2022 was so great that already today all starting places are allocated. The race is fully booked - late registration online or on site is no longer possible! Traditionally, on the final day of the Deutschland Tour, amateur cyclists also get the opportunity for their own bike race. For 28 August, 3,400 enthusiastic cyclists have secured a place in Stuttgart and the Stuttgart region.

There is still a week to go before the start of the Jedermann Tour on Stuttgart's Schlossplatz. The anticipation of experiencing Stuttgart and the Stuttgart region on a road bike on closed roads is great. For the first time in the young history of the Jedermann Tour, the capacity of the race has been reached early. After the premiere in 2018, this year the Jedermann Tour celebrates a comeback in the capital of Baden-Württemberg and meets a region that is enthusiastic about racing bikes.

After the start at 9:15 a.m., two attractive routes await the participants: the shorter "Weinberggrunde" (57 kilometres) or the longer tour "Durch die Region Stuttgart" (116 kilometres). More than two thirds of all starters have registered for the long tour. The riders will reach the finish on Theodor-Heuss-Straße between 10:42 and 14:30.

Completely closed roads, a well-filled starter bag and a professional organisation including catering and equipment service offer the riders a great cycling experience at the Jedermann Tour. In addition, every starter will receive a free jersey from Santini in the exclusive 2022 design!
